

50 Scene Prompts

Classifier practice for movement, location, and action

How to use these

Students pick the classifier that fits the scene, then show the movement and the spatial relationship clearly. The goal is a picture the class can read, not a single correct handshape.

The Reach for line is a starting point, not an answer key. If a student can justify a different classifier and the picture is clear, it counts.

Tick the boxes to track what the class has covered. Ten prompts make a full warm-up; one prompt makes an exit ticket. To raise the difficulty, ask for two scenes in a row from the same category, so students have to hold their signing space consistent between them.
